The Marble Saloon Homicide.

The trial of Samuel Emery, jr., indicted for canslaughter in the killing of Joseph S. combs on last Christmas afternoon at the Marble saloon, commenced before Justice Hag-ner, in the Criminal court yesterday morning. District Attorney Wells and H. H. Wells, jr., appeared for the Government, and Colo William A. Cook and Mr. A. B. Williams for

The following jury was obtained, without auch trouble, to try the case: Daniel Hau-au, Benjamin H. L. Crowley, Thos. P. Bell, hilip D. Bostwick, John W. Willis, Charles H. Foote, Charles B. Pearson, A. M. Boswell, John M. Brown, jr., Wm. F. Thomas, Wm. A. Hughes and Thomas Heinline. Assistant District-Attorney Wells made a brief opening to the jury, reciting the circumstances of the killing, and that the Government expected to prove the prisoner had committed manshaugh-ter. Should this be done they would ask for a conviction at their hands.

Elward B. Coombs, a brother of the de-eased, was the first witness examined for the lovernment. He had never seen the prisoner until last Christmas. The witness, his brother and Mr. Sim Johnson, between 3 and 4 o'clock on Christmas afternoon, went into the Marble salcon. After they entered Mr. Johnson and the decision, with two others, drank together. Witness started to go home and his irrother called him back saving that be would prother called him back saving that be would inchier called him back, saying that he would go with him in a few minutes. As they turned to enter the place a fight was going on. Witness wanted to stop and see it, but his brother told him not to and took him into a little back room, where they ordered fried oysters. As they started to come out, and had resched the door, a shot was fred, and the deceased fell into witness' arms. He was shot in the head, and lived about an hour. Just as he was shot a man ran by the door, saying. in the head, and lived about an hour. Just as he was shot a man ran by the door, saying. "Look out; he is going to shoot." Then came the shot and the deceased felt. The witness did not see the accused until he reached the ation-house.

T. S. Johnson, better known as Sim John T. S. Johnson, better known as Sim Johnson, testified that he was with Coombs on last Christmas day, at the Marble saloon, between 3 and 4 o'clock. After entering they were joined by Michael Foley and Michael Lane; met Mr. Emery and had several drinks togother. They also met Harry Parker. He passed the witness and remarked that he would cut some one. Foley asked what was said and witness told him. Then Foley went toward Parker, and the next that he saw was toward Parker, and the next that he saw was the two men on the floor together. He did not remember seeing any one until the shot was fired, and then he saw a man hiding a pistol back of the oyster bar. The witness took it away, and on the outside gave it to George Emmitt Bush testified that he was at the Marble saloon with Marion S. Eubanks, and there was a crowd of men there. He did not see the first of the fight, but Foley had hold of another man punching him when the witness went into the place. Then the crowd gathered went into the place. Then the crowd gathered about the men. After that he saw Emery walk from the bar and tackle the unknown man of the first fight (recognized as Michael Laue). They clinched and fought all around the room; then the pistol was fired. Emery struck the first blow; Laue also struck several. He saw a man's head put in the peol of water, and saw Mr. Emery put it there. At the time of the firing Callahan was behind the bar, and he ran around and grabbed Emery's hand. The pistol when it was fired was in Mr. Emery's hand. If e did not know where Mr. Eubanks was, but He did not know where Mr. Eubanks was, but he last that he heard of him was that he was n Richmond.

On cross-examination witness said that as

After that was over Emery got into a fight with Lane; threw him Emery got into a fight with Lane; threw him into the pool of water and was ducking him. After Lane got out he went for Emery, and the latter fired. The witness ran and took the pistol out of Emery's hand. He first put it behind a coffee-pot and then hid it in the oyster counter. Lane and Emery had hold of each other at the time of the firing. When witness asked Emery to give him the pistol, he replied: "No, I will shoot another son of a —..." On cross-examination the witness said that he knocked Parker down twice and that he knocked Parker down twice and kicked him the last time. After that Lanc and Emery took up the fight. The witness said that he had taken three light drinks and was not drunk. He had nothing to do with the Emery-Lane fight, and was standing at the igar case at the time it took place.

Michael Lane teatified that he went into the saloon about 3 o'clock. Foloy and Parker were fighting, and witness separated them. They got to fighting again. Emery said something about double-teaming, and witness said that it was a lie. Emery then hit him. He fell into the pond and Emery ducked him. He got up and went out doors, and was there at the time of the shooting. Emery did not have his arm about the witness at the time of the shooting, for he went out before that with Mr. Reese. Subsequently he returned and got his coat. He did not know where Reese was now, but heard that he was down South

Wm. H. Parker testified that he was not in Jacobs Bros., 1220 Pennsylvania avenue. condition, at the time of the occurrance at the Marblesaloon, to tell now what happened there; neither did he have any recollection of what william Norton testified that he was standwithin Sorton testined to a the was standing at the drinking bar and heard a glass crack. He turned round and saw Eddie Coombs trying to get his brother, the deceased, out of the crowd, and he took him into the little room. He then heard Lane call Emery a liar; the latter then struck the former and threw him into the pond, and said "G-d-n can I will drown an". you, I will drown you?" Lane got up and the crowd gathered around. Emery then ran back and pulled a pistol. Some man said "Don't shoot that pistol," and the witness went out the door into the area. With this witness the Government closed their teatimony in chief.

District-Attorney Wells said that three of the most important witnesses for the prosper-tion—Eubanks, Sutton and Ecese—could not be found. They had been traced through North Carolina, Virginia, Haltimore and Philadelphia, but their present whereabouts could nor be as-

Mr. A. B. Williams, for the defendant, made a brief opening to the jury, in which he promised to show that the shooting was clearly an act of self-defense on the part of his client. The court then adjourned until to-day.

For the benefit of those who have not already seen the Linoleum Floor Cloth, we would say that it is made under a patent process of ground eork, combined with solidified oil, pressed on to canvas by means of powerful rollers, forming an exceedingly durable surface, on which is imprinted handsome patterns in varied styles. It is suitable for private dwellings, public buildings, stores, &c., and soid by all carpet dealers. The only genuine article has the word "Linoleum" printed on the back of every yard.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying milions to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs, Lawrence & Co., confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $10,000. The money of thousands of customers is thus massed in one mighty sum, and, operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio Invested $190 in a combination, which netted $478. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,891,18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a comin gentleman invested 500 in a jon, which yielded a profit of $2.8 reinvestments netted him $3.644.31 ugo merchant made $43,210.41 in four mo mbination investments. Prudent Stock Speculation.

The Stock Exchange never presented such an admirable condition for profitable and rapid stock operations. There never before have been so many fortunes made by quick fluctuations and skillful manipulations. Careful and reasonable people only operate through the combination system of Messra. Simpson & Co., which enables those with large or small means to invest and realize handsome profits, which are divided pro-raid among the shareholders every thirty days. New combinations are constantly forming. From $5, $10, $25, $50 or $100 can be safely invested with spiendid opportunities for quick profits. An Hilmons grain dealer made $13,220,41 in two investments. A Michigan farmer invested $50, which yielded $133,14. He made by three investments over $1,000. A Wisconsin country inerchant made $1,246,16 in four combinations, and others have done equally as well. New explanatory circular, with "Unurring rules for success," mailed by Messrs, Simpson & Co., Bankers, 49 Exchange Place, New York City.

The Fortunate Trust of a Lawyer, Who Promptly Collects a $10,000 Prize Which Cost His Client 52,

David D. Terry, the well-known lawyer at No. 8

John street, New York city, was asked if he had not held ticket No. 31 313, which drew the second capital prize of $10,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery Company's drawing, on September 9, and said:

"Yes; I held whole ticket No. 31,913 in trust for a client. It cost $2 at the office of M. A. Pampinin, 319 Broadway, New York. I forwarded it through dams Express for collection, and received $10,00

in cash without deduction. I would rather not tell the name of the fortunate possessor of the money, since if would be a breach of confidence, and the principal object of collecting the ticket in my name would be defeated.

The reporter did not pursus his investigation further, as he was assured by the representative of the company that the Louisiana State Lottery never desires to reveal the identity of any of its patrons without their authority.—New York World, September 27, 1879.
